Nikita In Hungary, May Answer Peking Blast

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev arrived by train today for a round of public ceremonies and private talks with Hungarian Communist leaders that may be one more step toward a showdown with Red China.

Peking loosed a new blast at Khrushchev's policies Monday, accusing him of paving the way for restoration of capitalism in the Soviet Union.

Labeling the Soviet premier the "greatest capitulationist in history," the 30,000-word denunciation called on Communists everywhere to "repudiate and liquidate" the Soviet premier's policy of peaceful co-existence with the West.

Khrushchev is scheduled to make at least two major policy speeches in Hungary and probably will touch on the feud with Peking.

The announced purpose of the visit is to help celebrate the 19th anniversary of Hungary's liberation from Nazi Germany. There is no doubt, however, that other issues motivated Khrushchev, who is accompanied by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Yuri Andropov, party Central Committee member responsible for Soviet relations with other Communist countries.

Informed sources said the Communist parties of Hungary, Poland and Bulgaria have assured Khrushchev they will support the Soviet Union in the event of a complete split with Red China.

A final decision may be made next month when Communist leaders gather in Moscow to celebrate Khrushchev's 70th birthday. They must choose whether the Moscow camp should continue efforts to restore peace with Peking or make an open break.

Monday's blast from Peking gave further proof that a Romanian peace mission failed last month.

Communist informants said the Chinese not only rejected the Romanian appeal but demanded that Soviet leaders admit the Chinese are right in their opposition to peaceful co-existence with the West.

The new Chinese attack in the official Peking People's Daily and the theoretical journal Red Flag harped on this theme.

"Marxism has always openly proclaimed the inevitability of violent revolution," the Chinese statement said. "It points out that violent revolution is the midwife to Socialist (Communist) society, the only road to the replacement of the dictatorship of the bourgeoisie by the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Boosters Of Glenn To Map Future Course

Unwilling To Quit Campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Leading backers of ailing space hero John H. Glenn Jr. for U.S. senator plan to confer here Wednesday "to see where we go from here."

The group evidently isn't ready to satisfy Ohio Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman's "hope that all of Col. Glenn's supporters would now rally behind the candidacy of Sen. Stephen M. Young" until they take stock of circumstances.

But some of the principals who plan to gather Wednesday said that as they see it the aim is to coordinate plans to push for Glenn's Democratic nomination in the May 5 primary without his personal participation.

Bell and Hays reportedly will attend the meeting.

Buckeye Democrats refusing to accept the evident finality in Glenn's statement from his Texas hospital bed that even if nominated he will not run seem to fall into three categories:

—Those who believe Young could not defeat the Republican candidate in November.

—Those who are at odds with Young.

—Those who believe Glenn is the man for the Senate even without knowing what he stands for on major issues.

Most of the faction figuring the 74-year-old Young couldn't win re-election believe Rep. Robert Taft Jr., bearing a powerful Ohio political name, will be the Republican nominee over Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Glenn, disclosing it may take months for full recovery from the head injury that has him immobilized, said he doesn't want to run "just as a well known name." And, maintaining that he will remain in the Marine Corps until he is fully recovered, he says that as a serviceman he cannot publicize his political views.

Nevertheless, some Glenn backers professed Monday night to be checking for a groundswell of Glenn support among the voters before abandoning hope.

Among those expected at Wednesday's gathering are Fred Bohn of Zanesville, campaign finance director; Hamilton County Democratic chairman John S. Wiethe; Columbiana County Democratic Chairman Don Gosney, a leading Glenn supporter from the start, and a number of Glenn-for-Senate county chairmen.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown replied by telegram in turn to GLENN, Page 5

Alaskan Quake Death Total 176, More Victims Feared

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Shattered Alaska counted more dead today and reports from backwater villages indicated there may be still many more victims of the great earthquake.

The toll of dead and presumed dead mounted to 178 in a tally released by Alaska Civil Defense. Officials noted some of the deaths could not be confirmed.

The picturesque island of Kodiak, southwest of Anchorage in the Gulf of Alaska, appeared to be the state's hardest hit area. The report showed 72 or more dead or presumed dead as a result of Friday evening's quake and tidal waves.

The Kodiak toll was based on reports furnished by state police after a tour of the island's torn and twisted villages.

Omitted from the Civil Defense list was the community of Chenega on Prince William Sound. Reports from Fairbanks indicated half the town's population of 45 may have been lost in a desperate race for higher ground against an 80-foot tidal wave.

2 Dead 20 Missing

The Fairbanks reports said two persons were known dead and 20 missing after the wave washed away the little town.

Civil Defense said it could neither confirm nor deny the report based on stories from survivors flown to Cordova.

The new casualty figures were up 74 from the last Civil Defense report issued Monday. Nearly all the new dead were from Kodiak—which listed only seven victims Monday.

The list by communities plus the tally from Chenega showed these counts:

Anchorage, 8 dead, 2 presumed dead; Kodiak Island, 12 presumed dead; Cordova, 1 dead; Homer, 3 dead; Kodiak Island, 22 dead, 50 presumed dead; Valdez, 1 dead, 30 presumed dead; Kayak Island, 1 dead; Chena, 2 dead, 20 presumed dead; Seward, 3 dead, 16 presumed dead; Port Ashcroft, 1 dead, 5 presumed dead.

"Situation Unknown"

The list seemed to confirm the belief that scores of fishermen and seaside residents had died in waves that smashed the south-central coast. A number of isolated areas — mainly on the Alaskan peninsula or in the Aleutian Islands — were described "situation unknown."

New after-shocks rocked the gulf area. The seismograph at the University of Washington has recorded more than 60 shocks since the big quake.

A moderate to severe tremor was reported near the epicenter of the Friday smasher but reports from Anchorage indicated it was not felt in populated regions of Alaska.

An airlift was under way from the Seattle, Wash., area carrying emergency supplies to stricken cities.

Fifteen Air Force Globemasters were scheduled to arrive in Anchorage before the day was out with cargoes ranging from diapers to electrical equipment.

Commercial airline service was fully restored to Anchorage, a major air center. The Alaskan Highway was reported

8 Persons Injured In Road Mishaps

Six Columbiana and two Mahoning County persons received minor injuries in four of nine traffic mishaps on area highways Monday. Slippery, unseasonal conditions played a role in some of the mishaps.

Elvin H. Musselman, 66, of RD 5, Lisbon, suffered a laceration of the left eye, and two Mahoning men were hurt in a three-car mishap at 10:50 a.m. on Route 164, about two miles southwest of North Lima.

Also injured were William S. McConnell, 32, of Youngstown, contusions of the chest and possible fractured ribs, and his passenger, Thomas McGiffin, 37, also of Youngstown, whiplash. The three were treated at Youngstown South Side Hospital and released.

The third driver, Edward J. Miller, 1274 Fairfield Ave., Columbiana, escaped injury.

The Mahoning County sheriff's office who investigated said McConnell's car was heading toward North Lima when it was hit by Musselman's car going toward Columbiana. The Lisbon car went left of center and off the right side, causing the hubcap to fly off. The wheeling disk plunged through the windshield of Miller's car but did not strike him. Miller was following behind Musselman.

The deputy sheriff cited Musselman for unsafe operation.

Little Boy Hurt

Thomas Zwick, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Zwick of RD 1, East Rochester, suffered contusions of the chest when his father's car was struck by another vehicle at 8 p.m. on Township Rd. 707 (Augusta Rd.), a half mile north of the Carroll County line. He was treated by a family physician.

Zwick, 28, was heading north when a southbound car operated by Mrs. Estelle V. Borland, 58, of RD 1, Mechanicsburg, came over the hillcrest and sideswiped the Zwicks car. Mrs. Borland was cited for driving left of center.

A Wellsville mother and daughter were injured, not seriously, in a two-car head-on but low-speed crash at 5:50 p.m. on Route 30, little more than a mile north of East Liverpool when a car slid on the wet pavement on an upgrade where a three-lane section narrows to two lanes.

Mrs. Sarah Tatgenhorst, 48, of RD 1, Wellsville, was treated at East Liverpool City Hospital for a muscular spasm of the lower back and her daughter, Sally, 11, for abrasions of the right knee.

Fire Destroys '55 Auto Here

Service Station Slightly Damaged

A hot trouble-light exploded at Dave's Cities Service Station at 301 W. State St. at 6:37 p.m. Monday causing a spectacular, but not too costly, fire. Damage was estimated at $400.

David M. Davis, owner-manager, said the blaze was caused by the trouble-light which exploded when water dripped on it from an automobile being worked on by Terry Yakubek, a part-time employee. Yakubek was draining the car's fuel tank in order to install a new gasoline line.

The exploding bulb ignited the gasoline. Damage was confined to the auto and to two garage doors, which were singed by the fire. Minor smoke damage was also incurred.

Davis said the auto, a 1955 Buick Century owned by James Morris of Ellsworth Ave., was a total loss. The entire loss is covered by insurance, the owner added.

Witnesses to the fire said the flames shot out the top of the doors, followed by great clouds of black smoke.

Yakubek's hair was singed and one ear was burned slightly. He required no medical treatment.

City firemen were at the scene approximately one-half hour.

Cold Damages Peach Crop

Freeze Threatens Southern States

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Sub-freezing temperatures gripped the Deep South again today and farmers contemplated additional crop losses after earlier freezing caused severe damage.

The peach crop loss in South Carolina and Georgia was estimated at $32.5 million. The loss may be higher after Monday night's freeze.

Peach crops in Alabama, Tennessee and North Carolina also were damaged heavily by Sunday night's freeze and the latest freeze could wipe out the crop in these states altogether.

The latest freeze apparently spared the vegetable crops of south Florida.

Although frost warnings included areas as far south as the Everglades, early morning temperatures in south Florida were

Rhodes Says Raises In Order

State Employees' Pay Boosts Aired

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Finance Director Richard L. Krabach expressed the hope today that the prospect of selective pay raises would help stabilize state employment.

"It simply is good management to pay people for extra work," he asserted.

Krabach referred to a statement by Gov. James A. Rhodes that some raises were in order because the state had 4,735 fewer employees at the end of February than when he took office Jan. 14, 1963.

"More work is being done by fewer people," the governor said.

"Therefore we recommend pay raises be given in selective classifications, effective July 1," start of the state's new book-keeping year.

Krabach estimated that the over-all payroll reduction resulted in a spending level some $23.6 million below the level at the start of the Rhodes administration. The finance chief based his estimate on an average $5,000 annual salary for state employees.

Rhodes said the first increases

Rehearsals In Progress

Kiwanis Club Kapers Scheduled April 14, 15

A band of capricious Kiwanians have been going through their paces the past few weeks as time draws near for the annual Kiwanis Kapers, two-nights of frolicsome mirth.

And it's hard to tell who enjoys the whole thing more—the performers or the audience. One beefy-legged ballet "artist" says his chorus line is under extreme duress in practice. "We 'break up' about every five minutes," the danseuse said.

General chairman Ralph Martin said the advanced ticket sales for the Kapers April 14 and 15 has begun. The duets may be purchased from Huddleston's drug store, Fisher's news agency or any Kiwanis Club member.

The production to be staged at the Junior High School auditorium will revolve zanily around life in the Army, especially the trials and tribulations of Sad Sack, the most "snafu" character the military ever put up with.

The whole thing is a fast-moving series of events divided into two acts. Forty-eight Kiwanians will play an active part in the show, with 24 others assisting in ticket sales, stage properties and other activities.

The early part of the show will consist of "quickie" flashbacks in Army life, while the entertainment will be capped with ballet, ladies of history,

Columbiana Group Plans for Election

By MRS. CHARLES WRIGHT
COLUMBIANA — Plans for promoting the three-mill school operating levy, which will appear on the May 5 primary ballot, were discussed when 40 persons attended a meeting of the Citizens Committee for Better Schools at South Side School Monday.

Mrs. Russell Barber, chairman of the committee, opened the meeting and introduced Russell Lindsay, co-chairman, who commented on various objections to the levy voiced by townspeople.

Lindsay said that a door-to-door canvass will be made soon by interested citizens in an effort to contact each home and distribute literature which might aid in clearing up questions individuals may have concerning the issues.

According to Lindsay, local industries have promised full cooperation in the appeal to voters for the levy which was defeated by 13 votes last November.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made of an open meeting at 7:30 p.m. April 20 at South Side School which all Columbiana area residents are invited to attend. Persons attending will be asked to submit unsigned questions to a panel consisting of school board members and members of the Citizens Committee. All questions will be answered at the meeting.

A meeting of chairmen and co-chairmen will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 10 at South Side School.

A total of $542.50 has been collected in the 1964 Heart Fund campaign, sponsored by the Jaycees, according to an announcement by Wilbur Beck, chairman. Beck said the total tabulation may be raised following a final check of contributions mailed directly to the county office by business and industry.

Coin Shortage Crisis Seen In 2, 3 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The coin shortage will reach a crisis stage within the next two or three years.

This is the view of government officials who direct the manufacture and distribution of billions of coins and it is based on the assumption that demand will continue to expand at an incredible rate.

How soon will the shortage have a noticeable effect on business, and produce serious inconvenience for the public?

"We believe that some banks are already stocking up on coins for next Christmas," a Treasury official said.

Of the 55 billion coins manufactured by the government since 1792, about 44 billion have been minted in the past 25 years. On the average, a coin stays in circulation for 25 years.

Production has been stepped up sharply in the past few years and it will reach 4.1 billion pieces in the business year which ends next June 30. If Congress approves money for overtime pay and some additional equipment, the total will reach 4.6 billion in fiscal 1965.

"If there were no shortage, we would have 2 billion coins on hand and 2 billion in the distribution pipeline," a Treasury official said. "Now we have virtually none."

"In other words, we're a year behind right now. And it takes three years to build a new mint."

The mints at Philadelphia and Denver are operating at near capacity although the Philadelphia output can be increased by 100 million coins a year if the present three shifts are extended through weekends. An additional 500 million coins a year can be turned out at Denver with the addition of equipment.

Government officials are not sure why demand has increased so enormously in the past three years.

Some believe that vending machines are the culprits since they keep change out of circulation for days or weeks. The vending machine companies say their business has not caused the shortage.

There seems to be a growing belief that the coins are in the hands of collectors. The number of numismatists has been estimated at 8 million to 12 million.

Problem for Pollworkers Posed by Law

An Ohio law which permits those who will be 21 on or before Nov. 3, date of the general election, to vote for candidates at the May 5 primary but prohibits them from voting on special questions and issues may pose a ticklish problem for pollworkers in Columbiana County's 165 precincts.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, said poll workers are being advised of the "voting by age" law and their duty to challenge any voter they believe is not qualified.

The law provides anyone who will be 21 on or before the general election not only can vote at the general election but also may select his party affiliation and vote for candidates of his choice at the primaries on May 5, O'Hanlon explained.

However, those who reach the statutory age between the primaries and the general election are not entitled to cast ballots on questions and issues which will be submitted at special elections to be held at the same date as the party primaries.

Because of the $500 million statewide bond issue, special elections will be held in every precinct not only in Columbiana County but throughout Ohio, and the law will affect all those who will become 21 between May 5 and Nov. 3.

The Doctor Says

Before Second Baby Arrives

When a second baby appears on the scene, the first child may be expected to show a certain amount of jealousy. Because this is an infantile behavior that indicates a feeling of insecurity and dependence, steps should be taken to head it off. The parents of 3-year-old Freddy told him that when his mother came back from the hospital she would bring him a little brother or sister to play with. They thought they had taken a big step toward solving the problem. But they were not being realistic.

Freddy took one look at the new arrival and disappointingly found her small and helpless, unable to communicate except by crying, and much too demanding of everyone's attention.

A FAR BETTER approach would have been to tell Freddy that his mother was bringing home a live doll that would need lots of attention but that he could have a doll of his own to give the same care his mother would give the baby.

This would in no way turn Freddy into a sissy because the device would be used only as a temporary bridge to a better understanding of why his mother must spend so much time with the baby.

The two most important things in handling a child's emotional problems at a time like this are sufficient imagination to place yourself in his shoes and a supreme effort to let him know that you love him as much as always. This is a project in which both parents must join.

A CHILD MUST BE made to understand that every member of the family is an individual with his own special differences, that these differences are to be respected and that everyone has his contribution to make to the family unity.

It is very helpful to praise the child for new accomplishments that show that he is growing up. If in spite of all this, he may have moments when he wants to revert to babyhood, drink his milk from a bottle or be carried upstairs, it is well to humor him.

This will give him a chance to see for himself that these things are not as much fun as he imagined they would be and make him proud that he has learned to do some things for himself.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, March 31, the 91st day of 1964. There are 275 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1933, the Civilian Conservation Corps was created by an act of Congress. The corps was organized to provide employment for young men between the ages of 17 and 23 and was a basic measure to relieve the unemployment situation during the depression.
On this date... In 1854, the first trade treaty was signed with Japan — the aftermath of Commodore Perry's expedition to the Far East to arrange protection for American seamen and ships wrecked on the coasts of Japan. The treaty opened Japan to the outside world after centuries of being a secluded, almost unknown island kingdom.
In 1889, Paris celebrated the completion of the Eiffel Tower.
In 1917, the United States took formal possession of the Virgin Islands after buying them from Denmark.
In 1939, Britain and France pledged immediate aid to Poland.
In 1945, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower issued instructions to the fleeing Germans on how to surrender.
Ten years ago — Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov proposed that the United States and Western Europe enter into a security pact for Europe—that in return Russia might be willing to become a NATO member.
Five years ago — The Nyasaland government announced that 953 Africans had been arrested in three months on charges of political crimes.
One year ago — British marines and Bahaman police captured a motor launch in the Bahamas along with its crew of 16 Cuban exiles and one American on information it was planning an attack on a Russian tanker.

Remember When...?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody knows what the future may offer, but we all are consoled by what the past has brought.

One of the best safaris in life is a trip back through memory. You can pick the time and weather for your journey and find good companions. The cost is usually less than a tear and often no more than a smile.

But you've come quite a distance along this world's roadways if you can look back and remember when—

Every girl in America dreamed of dancing with the Prince of Wales or riding off on a white horse into the desert with Rudolph Valentino.

An ambitious lad could always get into the circus free by helping water the elephants. Anybody caught reading a copy of "The American Mercury" magazine was suspected of being an intellectual—and maybe immoral to boot.

Many a hard-up family helped cut down its fuel bill by sending the kids with gunny sacks down to the railroad yards to pick up fallen coal.

The nation was divided into two classes—those who thought Mary Pickford should have kept her long curls, and those who thought she looked every bit as pretty with her hair bobbed.

If the dish didn't have gravy on it, you didn't think you were getting much of a meal.

Everybody would run out on the sidewalk and look up when an airplane flew by.

When the doctor raised his price for a home call to $3, half the people in town asked the other half, "What's the world coming to next?"

Boys always had holes in their long black stockings from kneeling to play marbles.

Saloons had two entrances—one for "Ladies"—and if you asked a bartender for a martini he thought you were either kidding him or trying to show off. Your favorite uncle was the one who could take a deep puff on his cigarette, swallow a glass of water—and then blow smoke out his nose.

The business leaders in a small town always went home for lunch. And if you had a roll-top desk of your own in your office, you were making your mark in the world.

You never got orange juice without castor oil in it except as a special treat when you had the chicken pox or the measles.

A man who bought a suit with only one pair of pants to it was put down as a spendthrift.

TO ATTEND WORKSHOP
LISBON — Twenty 4-H advisers from Columbiana County will attend the annual district workshop Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at Leavittsburg, according to Robert Lewis, county extension agent in 4-H.
The Sears Foundation will furnish the dinner. The workshop will be divided into groups discussing the various activities of 4-H club work.
The workshop supplements the training program for 4-H advisers, Lewis said.

'64 Corvair Monza Club Coupe (108-in. wheelbase)

'64 Corvette Sting Ray Sport Coupe (98-in. wheelbase)

Things have changed a lot since a Chevy was only a Chevy. Especially your ideas of what you want a Chevy to be.

So now you have the Jet-smooth Chevrolet—17½ feet of pure luxury, bumper to bumper. The size alone might make it a luxury car, even if nothing else did. And everything else does, but the price. Or you can choose the thrifty Chevy II, a 15½-foot family car with all kinds of passenger and luggage space—and three kinds of engines (4, 6 or extra-cost V8) to choose from, besides.

This year, your choice might be the new 16-foot-plus Chevelle, sized to fit nicely between Chevrolet and Chevy II (and between parking meters, with five whole feet left over), but with its own special looks and room.

Then, too, there's the sporty 15-foot Corvair, so right for so many people (you girls, in particular) that we've never touched an inch of it—except for things like bigger rear engines for '64. And finally, Corvette—still 14½ feet and still too much for any true sports-car lover to say no to.

The long and short of it is, you don't have to go to any length to find exactly the size and price and kind of car you want. Just see the five different lines of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Still a Grim Possibility

It is hard to distinguish between Democratic moans of sympathy and sighs of relief over Col. John H. Glenn's announcement that he is withdrawing from the Ohio Democratic primary as a candidate for nomination to the U.S. Senate.

The space hero's candidacy had put the state's Democratic stalwarts into a political version of an elliptical orbit. They were scared to death, especially after the accident that put Col. Glenn on the shelf and prevented him from making any campaign promises.

It looked as if they might end up with an uncommitted candidate, and nothing is more nightmarish to an organization stalwart.

IF COL. GLENN had won the nomination and then had won the election with his hands untied, Ohio Democrats would have had another Frank J. Lausche.

Hence, all the huffing and puffing in behalf of Sen. Stephen M. Young, who was elected in 1958 only because organized labor punished incumbent John W. Bricker for his stand on the right-to-work amendment. No such good fortune is in sight for a Young candidacy in 1964.

This year the Democratic candidate for the Senate in Ohio will have to run on merit against U.S. Rep.-at-large Robert Taft. The way labor leaders and their Democratic bagmen rallied 'round Sen. Young, made it clear they wanted no part of Col. Glenn, though he would have been a stronger candidate than Sen. Young. Why?

Obviously, because they didn't have him in their pocket and saw no way to put him there.

COL. GLENN needed no help to get nominated and probably wouldn't have asked for help to run against Rep. Taft. But Democrats would need his help to make a Democratic showing in Ohio, which went Republican in 1960. He held the high cards.

THE LABOR LEADERS and their party loyalists now will brim over with sympathy because Col. Glenn must withdraw because of his health. But their anxiety has not vanished.

There is still a grim possibility Col. Glenn may poll more votes, not running than Sen. Young. There is the probability he will poll so many — though not campaigning and not even running — that Sen. Young will be discredited in his own party.

Happily looking on from the political sidelines will be Columbiana County Democratic leaders who were instrumental in getting Glenn to run in the first place.

One of the first signs of spring is that booklet advertising new flower seeds which almost makes you back ache.

Reverse March

Despite March's defiant roar of protest as April is about to make its debut, the month itself wasn't too bad, weatherwise.

Before yesterday's freezing temperatures and snowfall caught us by surprise, March broke tradition by coming in like a lamb and bringing quite a few balmy days and much-needed precipitation. There's a silver lining in almost every cloud.

Tribute to Joe

The participation of some 1,500 children in the annual Easter Egg Hunt at Centennial Park Saturday was not unusual. It was traditional.

Ever since the late Joe Kelley, the beloved recreational director and Memorial Building manager, started the egg rolling event here more than 35 years ago, the springtime frolic has been enjoyed by thousands of youngsters. Every time this season of the year rolls around our thoughts go back to Joe and the many kind deeds he did for Salem's youth of yesteryear. The Easter Egg Hunt is almost a tribute to him and the public appreciates the efforts of the United Commercial Travelers in carrying on as the sponsoring organization.

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

Your paragraph the other day about moralists frowning on lotteries as a means of raising government money gave me a laugh. You indicated that there are seldom squawks about the government getting money from liquor, tobacco, cosmetics, widows and orphans.

Face up to it, Twill. The government gets tax revenue from prostitutes, gamblers, dope-pushers, junkies, murderers, criminal syndicate kings, con men, parimutuels, newspapermen, abortionists, shy-sters and assorted tycoons and phonies. Taxation is like rain; it falls on the just and the unjust. And generally speaking you can say the same about tax revenue.

If you want the greatest possible freedom from the rule of the jungle, protection of law, fire and police protection, sewers, roads and all the other accepted necessities of western civilization, you have to pay for it.

Paradoxically, government is about the only thing popularly excepted from the maxim, "You get what you pay for." This comes from the hope that the government which governs least governs best, and consequently the lower the taxes the better the government.

MY CONSCIENCE was already pricked with your paragraph about taxing such sources of vice as liquor, tobacco and gambling, and then it occurred to me that we don't stop there.

Look at old Al Capone, our generation's idol of the underworld. He made millions of dollars selling bootleg liquor and beer to otherwise upright citizens, went untroubled by competitors on one-way rides and in the process machine-gunned uncounted innocent bystanders.

So what happened? We couldn't pin any of those crimes on him so we demanded our blood money, and the government finally nailed him on tax evasion.

Who ever complained about collecting taxes from Al Capone? You can carry this principle down to the least of purse-snatchers and shoplifters if you are a stickler for principle.

In this connection, it may be noted that within recent months it has been reported that a noted former law school dean was hauled into court for not filing tax returns and a famous architect neglected to file for several years before his death.

AS FOR GAMBLING, the federal government sells licenses to professional gamblers, and local law enforcement officials then have a field day harrasing these gamblers until they relinquish their federal permits. But do they really quit gambling just because they don't have federal licenses? It's your turn to laugh.

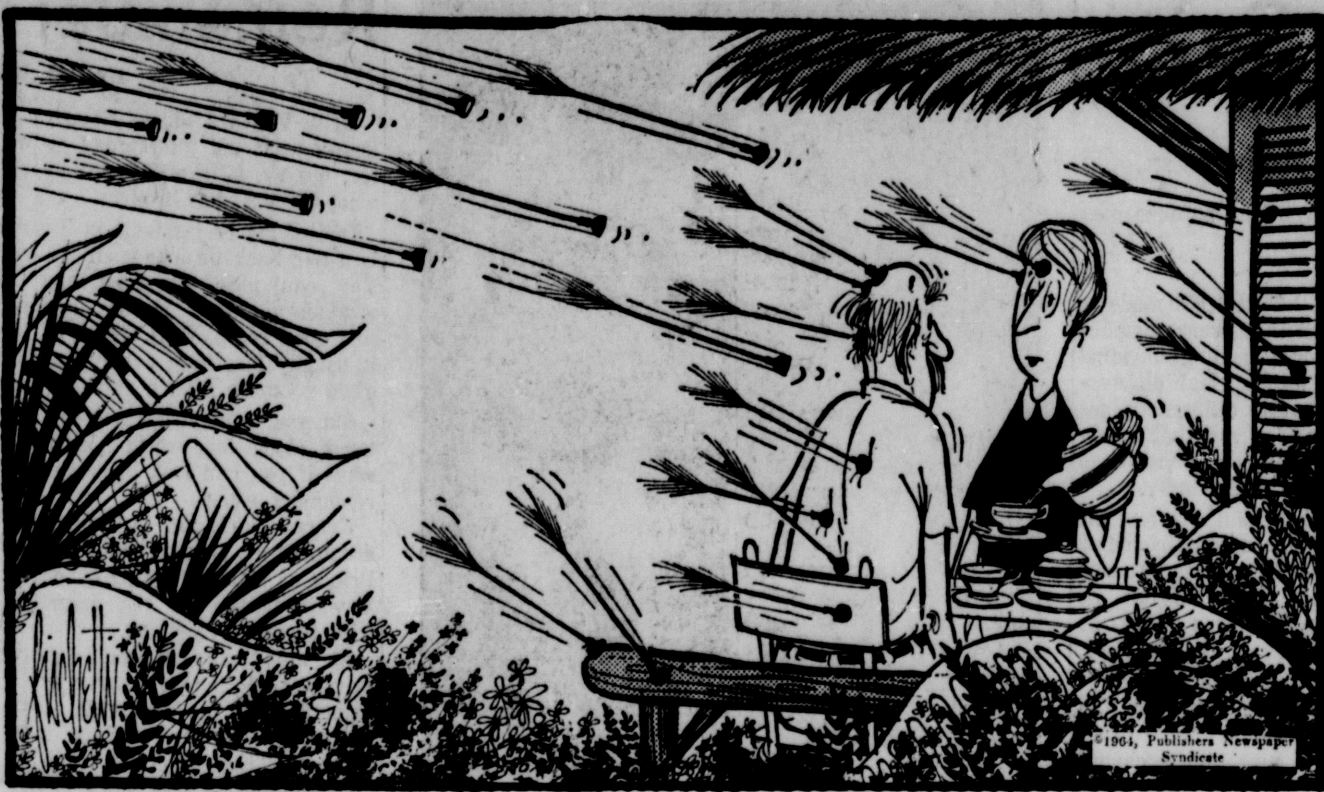

George Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara" presents the dilemma of the Salvation Army when offered a fortune from a munitions maker whose money was considered tainted.

Or maybe you've heard of the gag attributed to Mark Twain: "Sure his money is tainted, 'taint yours and 'taint mine."

Somebody was telling me the other day about a school district that was split into warring camps over the question of whether to accept a wad of dough from a brewery.

In closing, let me say I always try to keep in mind your admonition not to say anything about anybody unless I can say something good. This letter covers the just and the unjust and that is just about everybody.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

"The Peace Corps Has Worked Wonders Down Here"

Hoffa's Electronic Eavesdropper

By VICTOR RIESEL

During Jimmy Hoffa's trial, investigators were hired to investigate the federal investigators—to trail them photographically and intercept their official car-to-car coded short wave conversations.

Apparently he did not think this sufficient harassment, for he also dashed into the third floor corridor of the Federal Building screaming at the U.S. marshals, calling them "bums" and "trench coat stormtroopers."

So now a new Chattanooga grand jury is probing all this—and more. Its first subpoena was handed to a self-confessed wiretapper, who boasts of his skill as an electronic eavesdropper.

He is Bernard Spindel, a burly, long-time friend of Hoffa, who has associated with and worked for "the boss" for almost a decade. "Bernie" Spindel, who has known some mighty tough characters in New York City, amazingly enough admits intercepting official messages exchanged by federal agents during the trial. Nor does he deny that he was hired by Hoffa to come to Chattanooga—all of which intrigues the grand jury.

THIS ADMISSION is made in an affidavit, signed by Spindel and attached to a lengthy transcript of his monitoring of the federal agents' oral communications.

The objective of this strategy was to get these documents to the judge in an effort to force a mistrial and avert a conviction of the "chief."

Since Spindel's action sets a precedent in trial tactics — as well as in arrogance — I want to put part of the affidavit on record here:

"Bernard B. Spindel, being first duly sworn, makes oath as follows," the statement begins, "that affiant (Bernard Spindel) is an expert electronic technician specializing in detection of listening and/or monitoring devices and other means of such surveillance as wiretapping, shadowing and eavesdropping, as well as other contrivances;

"THAT AFFIANT has been retained to detect whether or not there is or has been surveillance of the defendants, and/or their attorneys;

"That affiant arrived in Chattanooga, Tenn., on Monday afternoon, the 3d of February, 1964;

"That during the affiant's investigation (he) employed certain electronic equipment and came across a vast network of conversations of individuals;

"That these conversations were by U.S. Government agents and that their conversations were coded in great part; the practice and customs of persons employing these codes and he is able to translate certain initials, words and statements from their present form into their intended meaning; that during the course of affiant's investigation, he made notes regarding the conversations he heard... see attached Exhibit 'A' "

THIS EXHIBIT is the transcript of conversations among federal agents on an official Justice Department assignment which in no fashion involved Spindel until he arrived in town with his electric gear.

The federal men swiftly learned of Spindel's activities, but they had nothing to hide, so they continued their work despite harassment by this eavesdropper-for-hire.

Typical of what Hoffa's man monitored and transcribed is the following cross-talk of two government agents:

"937 to JCW: He is going to be busy for just a minute. He will be there in a minute. There is a darned good chance that if this fellow is listening to all you said, there is another good chance if he is, he is recording it so you might consider that—10-4."

"Seven, presume he knows if he is that that's a violation of federal statutes over which we have jurisdiction. I'm sure he knows that..."

ONLY THE DEPARTMENT of Justice, the FBI and officers of the federal marshals know exactly why special agents roamed the city in radio cars or were posted in buildings to scan the streets with binoculars.

Obviously there were good security reasons for this which in no way concerned Spindel himself. But he not only monitored the U.S. officials, he made his information available to others who had retained him to spy. Here, for example, is what he passed on:

"Seven—I think you ought to change locations there. They might be trying to set you up so they can say the defendants are being surveilled or something."

"Okay."

"They are going to have to come up with something. They'd probably never find us at Edmund's."

"I think you got a real good idea..."

The agents set their rendezvous for Edmund's to escape being positioned. Thus, they had to change locations, tactics and codes to escape surveillance by a private citizen while carrying out government orders which had nothing to do with the actual courtroom action. Did the eavesdropper have a legal right to interfere?

Can private citizens interfere with federal agents under immunity? Are electronic eavesdroppers and their clients bigger than the government itself?

That's what the grand jury wants to know. So does the public.

Fulbright's Attitude on Cuba

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Johnson, wisely though belatedly, decided to let it be known on Saturday that the speech last Wednesday by Sen. J. W.

Fulbright, chairman of the Foreign Committee, must not be regarded abroad as the viewpoint policy of the United States.

Although there had been previous intimations from the White House that Mr. Fulbright expressed solely his own views, much of the press of France and Great Britain promptly interpreted the speech as meaning that America not only might stop bothering about Cuba but eventually would recognize Red China—all this because it is supposed to be the "practical" thing to do in these days of what the Arkansas senator describes as a recognition of "new realities."

French officials immediately called this "Gaullism," especially the senator's suggestions about opening the door to Communist China. Secretary of State Rusk, at a news conference two days after the Fulbright speech was delivered, negated the idea that the administration policy of economic isolation of Cuba has been a "failure," as charged by the Arkansas senator. The secretary said that he thought the senator "underestimates the cooperation the free world countries have given" in this matter. He also stated that there is no intent on the near future to recognize the Peiping government.

SEVERAL DEMOCRATS as well as Republicans in Congress severely criticized the Fulbright speech, but there is no doubt that he reflects a view prevailing among many of the so-called "liberals" in and out of Congress.

Mr. Fulbright has insisted that he is not condemning the use of the boycott against Cuba but is merely arguing that the United States must concede it has failed to make such a policy effective. He recommends that the United States should "come to terms, at last, with the realities of a world in which neither good nor evil is absolute and in which those who move events and make history are those who have understood not how much but how little it is within our power to change."

This point of view has come as a surprise because it is a contradiction of fundamental American principles and beliefs in the power of moral force—in disregard of material expediency—to affect the destinies of mankind.

What Mr. Fulbright says, in effect, is that "everybody is doing it, so why not do it, too?" He refers, for example, to the recent American wheat deal with the Communist regime in Moscow, and says:

"Our efforts to persuade our allies to terminate their trade with Cuba have been generally rebuffed. The prevailing attitude was perhaps best expressed by a British manufacturer who, in response to American criticisms of the sale of British buses to Cuba, said: 'If America has a surplus of wheat, we have a surplus of buses.'"

ALTHOUGH the wheat deal was approved by the Kennedy administration and continued by President Johnson, it has yet to be demonstrated that the American people really believe that the United States should have sold wheat to the Soviet Union. The action was not necessarily endorsed just because it was authorized by the administration. All this is reminiscent of the 1930, when the cry was heard that "You Can Do Business with Hitler."

Sen. Fulbright argues that he is not "against the desirability of an economic boycott against the Castro regime but against its feasibility."

He merely notes that the effort has been made and that the United States should admit and concede that the boycott policy has been a "failure." Defenders of the boycott idea assert that it has not as yet been given a chance.

There is no clear evidence that the United States government, for instance, has exerted any real pressure on its Western allies, or that it has made an issue with Moscow over the continued help given to Castro or the building-up of a military base there, from which subversive units are being sent into different parts of Latin America.

ONLY RECENTLY the organization of American States made public its proof that the effort to overthrow the government of Venezuela had originated in Communist Cuba. Nothing has been done to restrain Castro by means of "collective defense" through the OAS on which Mr. Fulbright would rely to combat subversion and infiltration.

Cuba today remains, moreover, an example to the whole world of how a military dictatorship, aided and abetted by the Soviet government, can deprive millions of people of their liberty.

While Sen. Fulbright is willing to dismiss Castro as a distasteful nuisance," Secretary Rusk has told the press that the Cuban dictator "is more than a nuisance—he is a threat to the hemisphere."

Although, as Sen. Fulbright says the United States is not "omnipotent," it also is a fact that the United States is not without considerable influence and power in the world. It has granted billions of dollars in foreign aid, and has helped to resuscitate the economic life of Europe and other areas.

It has sacrificed the lives of its own soldiers and sailors in three major wars in the last half-century over 3,000 miles away from our territory.

To imply that the United States has no influence any more to bring about an economic boycott in a righteous cause is to suggest that one of the most important weapons that can be used to prevent war is no longer of value and should be abandoned.

Ann Landers Answers

Dear Ann Landers: I've seriously considered aking my life. It may be the finest thing I can do for my children.

I'm a member of your "Smart Too Late Club." Three years ago I became involved in a love affair with a married man. He asked me to divorce my husband and marry him. To get the divorce I had to accept my husband's terms — no settlement, no support, no alimony.

After I went through the mud and muck of the divorce my love jilted me — said he couldn't part with his children. Three months later he married another woman.

I know I was a fool and he was a rat but that doesn't help. I now work to support myself and my children. They are wonderful and have kept me going. But sometimes I think they'd be better off without me. Their father's second wife would take good care of them and they would have my insurance money.

Do you have any words of encouragement? — DESPERATE.

Dear Desperate: You can give your children something no one else can give them—your love, devotion and guidance.

It takes guts to face life and keep plugging, especially after you've botched it, but you owe it to your kids. This terrible thing you are contemplating is the coward's way out. You failed your children badly once — please don't fail them again.

Two Rights

Dear Ann: In your recent series on "Teen-agers and Sex," you begin a column "How To Help Yourself Stay Out of Trouble," with a false premise.

You said, "the word 'teen' comes from an Old English word, 'teona,' meaning grief, misery, pain." The word "teen" to which you prefer is archaic. The word "teen" which we use in such forms as "teen-ager" today comes from the Old English word "ten."

I'm passing this information along to you in the interest of accuracy. — J.J.L., PROFESSOR OF ENGLISH (B.N.Y.)

Dear Professor: It is obvious that I had the luxury of a choice. The word I chose may be archaic but it was not incorrect.

Choices always are nice to have. And one of the better known choices was that of Calvin in 1928 when he said, "I do not choose to run."

I chose to refer to the Greek derivative, "teenon," rather than the Old English "ten," because in terms of the point I was trying to make I considered "teona" more appropriate. More teens identify with "grief, misery and pain" than with the number 10.

Ring Bearer

Dear Ann: If I'm being petty, please tell me and I'll try to change my thinking.

Recently I became engaged. My ring is beautiful and I am pleased when people ask to see it. BUT — I get very upset when my girl friends ask if they can try on my ring to see how it looks on them.

Th's has happened to me five or six times. I always say, "Go ahead," but it really does burn me up. I wouldn't ask a girl if I could try or her engagement ring. To me this is such a personal thing I can't understand what in the world is wrong with them.

Will you please give me your opinion? — BRIDE-TO-BE.

Dear B-T-B: The girls who ask to try on your ring are momentarily putting themselves in your place. This is a high compliment. You should be flattered, not annoyed.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

van motorist lost control of his car while passing and went off the left side of the highway. Tatgenhorst stopped his car but was hit by McGinnis. The Pittsburgh man was cited for speed excessive for conditions.

Two other southern Columbiana Counties were slightly hurt in a mishap at 9:50 p. m. on Route 7, about two miles south of East Liverpool.

Treated at East Liverpool City Hospital were Gary E. Malone, 23, of RD 1, Wellsville, who sustained a neck whiplash, and Allen E. McGaffie, 20, of East Liverpool, who had extensive body bruises.

Both drivers were southbound when McGaffie, trying to pass Malone, struck the medial strip, lost control of his car and hit the left rear of the Wellsville auto. McGaffie was cited for speed excessive for conditions.

Miss Lois A. Ulrich, 18, of 364 W. 7th St. was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance but was unhurt after a mishap at 4 p. m. on slippery Route 62, two miles south of Canfield.

Unable to stop, she struck the rear of a slow-moving vehicle operated by Ralph A. Cox, 59, of RD 1, Kensington. Cox had reduced his speed to accommodate a car pulling another out of a ditch.

A slushy roadway was the undoing of Oscar J. Bonar Jr., 20, of Steubenville at 9 a. m. Monday on Route 45, two miles north of Lisbon. He was cited for speed excessive for conditions.

Bonar was driving north toward Salem, tried to pass a car operated by Roy Costello, 59, of East Liverpool and skidded on the slushy pavement into the left side of the Costello vehicle.

Two Drivers Cited
Two motorists were cited after a three-vehicle mishap at 11:50 a. m. on Route 62, about four miles east of Alliance.

All three were proceeding west when Hess started to pass Miller who simultaneously pulled out to overtake Jones. Miller, after hitting Hess car, slammed on the brakes and skidded into Jones' vehicle.

No one was arrested or injured in a collision between cars operated by William F. Richey, 17, of RD 4, Lisbon, and Gerald Lee Nappi, 17, of Ashtabula at 11:30 a. m. on Route 45, a mile south of Salem. Southbound, Richey was turning left into a private drive when he was hit in the left side by Nappi in the act of passing.

Garland M. Wheeler, 45, of 42 W. Salem St., Columbiana, escaped injury at 5 p. m. when a rock, lodged between truck wheels, flew into his windshield and cracked it on Alt. Route 14 a mile east of Salem. The tractor-trailer truck was operated by Harold L. Laderer, 36, of Portersville, Pa.

MacArthur's Condition Still Critical

WASHINGTON (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur's condition continues critical, doctors reported today, but the kidney difficulty that gave him a setback has improved slightly.

A bulletin from Walter Reed Hospital added that the 84-year-old five-star general continues to have intermittent bleeding from his esophagus but this is being controlled by pressure from a tube inserted in his esophagus.

"Heart function and vital signs remain quite stable," the bulletin added.

The latter statement indicated that MacArthur's heart remained strong in its action and that his blood pressure, which had been reported good Monday, still remained so.

There was no immediate word whether doctors had determined whether the old warrior had suffered the occurrence of an ulcer in his stomach—a possibility suggested Monday by Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the Army's surgeon general.

Heaton is one of the chief surgeons in MacArthur's three major surgical operations in a period of 24 days.

would go to the Highway Patrol and to the Public Welfare and Mental Hygiene departments. "We hope in the not too distant future we can adjust salaries upward for all employees," he added.

Krabach said he could not tell immediately how big the increases would be or how much they would cost. But he stressed that they would be made within department appropriations by the legislature for the new fiscal year.

The finance chief added that efforts to put "Little Hoover Commission" economy recommendations into effect by April 15, instead of the earlier July 1 target, would help.

Highway Safety Director Warren C. Nelson, who has supervision of the patrol; Welfare Director Denver L. White, and Mental Hygiene Director Martin A. Janis had no immediate estimates of raises in their departments.

Krabach said he expected semiskilled employees to get the first pay boosts.

Rhodes said an $83 million deficit inherited from the previous administration would be down to $13 million by July 1 and predicted the state would be out of the red by next January.

The body was discovered by a passerby, Louis Bryan, who notified the constable.

The spring freeze, coldest since 1955 in most sections, promised temperatures at least as cold as Sunday night in the northern portions of Dixie. Extreme southern portions were warned of colder temperatures than those of Sunday night.

This meant that crops in the southern portions which escaped Sunday night faced possible ruin. The last complete peach kill in the Southeast was in 1955.

Ballot Suit Poses Problem For County Election Board

The Columbiana County Election Board is expected to schedule a meeting soon to determine what steps it will take on printing ballots for the Republican primary May 5 in view of a pending Supreme Court hearing on a candidate's suit to have his name listed as a candidate for an unexpired term on the supreme court.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, explained the Dodge Publishing Co. of Salem, which holds the ballot contract, has been asked to delay printing the GOP ballots until the board can reach a decision.

The local board must decide whether to order ballots printed without the name of Louis Schwartz for the unexpired term ending Dec. 31, or to have the name included on the ballots and adhesive stickers printed to be placed on the ballots in event the court upholds the decision of Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who rejected Schwartz' nominating petition sometime ago.

The court has indicated it will not hear the case until April 15, only three weeks before the primary. However, the Salem printer has advised the board that he must know how to proceed by April 10 in order to have the ballots available for the primary.

Schwartz had filed for the unexpired term ending Dec. 31, 1966, but the secretary of state's office rejected the petition as insufficient after ruling some of the petitions were invalid. Schwartz then countered with the suit to compel the secretary of state to have his name printed on the ballot.

Because he legally is not a candidate, the county board had the Republican ballots printed with only the names of three candidates since the ballots had to be available for servicemen and civilians residing outside the United States.

The other candidates are Louis J. Schneider Jr., Marshall M. Carlisle and Robert L. Harrington.

Gemini Sea Test Planned This Week

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The two-man Gemini spacecraft, with an astronaut and engineer sealed inside, has been scheduled for a 36-hour sea test this week 30 miles south of Galveston in the Gulf of Mexico.

Three astronauts and three Manned Spacecraft Center engineers will pair off in teams. Each team will be locked in the capsule for 12 hours at a time.

Although there are many experiments associated with the test, the principal objective is to see how the vehicle operates in salt water for the maximum period of its 36-hour power supply.

Test requirements are that waves be four to five feet high and the sea choppy.

It will be the first full-scale sea water test using a production Gemini capsule, weighing and equipped the same as a spacecraft returning to earth.

Numerous tests with the capsule have been made in a huge tank at Ellington Air Force Base, near the Manned Spacecraft Center.

"Those tests were in fresh water, and no waves," said a spokesman.

"We need to know exactly how the sea water affects instruments, how much water the capsule leaks if any, whether the batteries will last 36 hours, the capsule's ability to float."

"In short we need to know everything that could happen if the spacecraft had to be in the water for 36 hours before it was recovered."

The three astronauts will probably be Neil A. Armstrong, Lt. Cmdr. John Young and Lt. Cmdr. James Lovell. The engineers are Gordon Harvey, Jim B. Thomas and Robert D. Mercer of the flight crews support division.

The capsule will be lowered over the side of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's recovery ship, the Retriever. A 400-foot nylon rope, which will be slack, will connect the ship to the capsule. There will be power and communications lines from the spacecraft to the ship.

Mrs. Roger Stafford, Minerva RD 2, will be the commentator, and 4-H members from 21 clubs in the county will model the spring fashions, Robert Lewis, county extension agent in 4-work, said.

WHO'S BEEN SLEEPING IN MY BED?—Ten dolls, that's who—and only one is real. You probably won't see Julie Arms, 8, of San Rafael, Calif., at first glance, but if you look closely, she's the sixth doll from the left.

Julie arranged all her dolls in her parents' bed, then climbed in with them. She called the family to come in and see, thinking nobody would recognize her among her friends. And nobody did—at least for a moment.

At a meeting of the Central Clinic board of trustees Monday, Jerry Colaizzi was named hospital administrator, thereby acquiring permanent status in the position he occupied on a provisional basis since Dec. 1, 1963.

Colaizzi was named acting administrator, effective on that date, to succeed Albert R. Hanna, who accepted a job as administrator of Dettmer Hospital in Troy. At the same time, Charles L. Thompson was assigned duties as assistant administrator of the Clinic.

Colaizzi, a native of Leetonia, graduated from Leetonia High School and completed correspondence courses in accounting and administration. He served for five years as assistant administrator of the Clinic.

He is married to the former Shirley V. Smith of Salem and they have three children. They reside at 1373 Carole Drive.

Pastor Rolls $800 10 Miles to Bank

EAST LIVERPOOL — A 29-year-old minister, his heart buoyed with charitable ballast, pushed a wheelbarrow loaded with an $800 Easter collections into a drive-in bank yesterday.

The Rev. Jerry L. Deitch was making good a promise to members of the nearby Pughtown, W. Va., Christian Church. In a pre-Easter message, he promised to push the wheelbarrow 10 miles to an East Liverpool bank if members of the church contributed "30 pieces of silver," a total of $500.

Bundled in a parka and fortified with hot coffee from good Samaritans along the way, he made the trip on snow-covered roads in three hours and 40 minutes — and was smiling at the finish.

"My feet hurt but it was worth it," he said.

Rev. Deitch is a brother of the Rev. Harold Deitch, pastor of the First Christian Church here in Salem.

Rt. 11 Completion Tied to Bond Issue

JEFFERSON — New hope was voiced here yesterday for completion of Ohio 11, the long-awaited Lake Erie-to-Ohio River highway.

Construction could resume within three years if Ohio's $500 million highway bond issue is passed at the May 5 primary.

Clifford Newhall, head of the State Highway Department's Division 4 office at Ravenna, said. He and his aides met with affected property owners and trustees from eight townships in Ashtabula County through which Ohio 11 would pass. He reaffirmed the highway's alignment set forth at a public hearing seven years ago.

Fire destroyed property to an estimated value of $1.76 billion during 1963.

Woman Who Struck Principal Fined

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A Warren woman charged with attacking a school principal who spanked her daughter has been fined $100 and costs and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence.

The penalty was assessed against Mrs. Johnnie Ruth Thornton Monday by Municipal Court Judge James A. Ravella, who also put her on a year's probation.

Mrs. Thornton pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery in connection with an attack March 17 on Raymond Glass, principal of First Street School.

She had asked for a jury trial, but when the case was called Glass withdrew two charges—creating a disturbance and malicious destruction of property—and she pleaded guilty to the remaining charge.

Police said Mrs. Thornton struck Glass with her purse when she went to the school to complain about a spanking the principal had given her daughter for fighting.

Giants Defeat Indians 7th Straight Time 10-2

Tribesmen Get Only 4 Hits

McDowell Optioned To Minor Leagues

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Whatever it is the San Francisco Giants have, they seem to use it best when they play the Cleveland Indians.

The Giants, who haven't lost an exhibition game to the Indians this year, beat the Tribe for the seventh time Monday, 10-2.

Cleveland's bats were silent for the most part, as Tribesmen got only four hits — one each by Max Alvis, Leon Wagner, Buddy Booker and John Romano.

The Giants, meanwhile, teed off on Gordon Seyfried and Sam McDowell for 12 safeties. McDowell was bombed for seven hits and six runs in two innings.

Failure of Seyfried to convert a possible double play ball in the first inning opened the gates for the Giants. After retiring walked Harvey Kuenn and gave up a single to Willie Mays that sent Kuenn to third.

Willie McCovey then slapped a ball up the middle and Seyfried failed to hold it, the ball bouncing away for a single and allowing Kuenn to score and Mays to advance to second. Rookie third baseman Jim Hart then tagged a curve ball out of the park.

Otherwise, Seyfried gave up only two singles during his six inning stint and retired the Giants in order in the third, fourth and sixth.

For McDowell, it was another disappointing performance. Against mostly reserves, he gave up two runs in the seventh and four in the eighth, two of the seven hits being triples. He also walked one and hit Del Crandell with a pitch. After the game, he was optioned to Cleveland's Portland affiliate in the Pacific Coast League.

Rookie Ron Herbel, who worked the final three innings for the Giants, gave up one run on three hits.

Wagner drove in Cleveland's first run in the first inning with a single, and Booker singled to drive in Alvis, who had doubled, in the ninth.

In a five inning scrimmage after the game, the Tribe outscored the Giants, 3-2.

Southpaw Jack Kralick and Jim Grant were scheduled to pitch against the Chicago Cubs at Mesa today.

50 Drivers Register At Canfield

The stock car racing season at Canfield Speedway can't be far away.

Some 50 drivers were on hand recently to sign memberships with the American Race Car Association, formerly known as MARC. Tony DeBene of Hubbard, ARCA district representative, registered drivers and assigned car numbers.

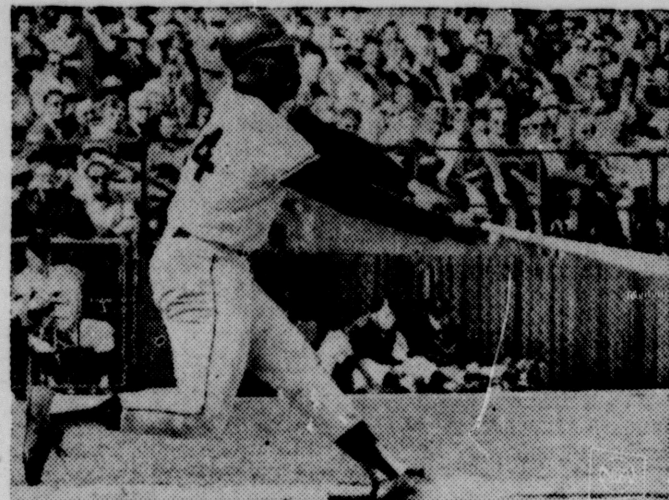

If the number of first-year pilots is a criterion, more than 150 amateur drivers will be in racing at Canfield this year. Newcomers signing Saturday were Gene Tetters and Joe Abruzzi of Warren, Ted Albright of Salem, Butch Phillips of Austintown and Bill Welsh and Dave Hilton of Youngstown.

Another newcomer is Ron Hegedus of Brookfield, brother of veteran George of Cortland. Ron has a 1956 Chevrolet with a 327 engine and he will go directly into the late model division. Actually the Canfield season will get under way a week earlier, Saturday night, April 18. The ARCA new cars, 1963 and 1964 models will be featured in a five-event program on the quarter-mile track. A 100-lap duel will be featured.

Drivers will get another chance to register on April 18. They will be signed in from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. The track will be open for test runs at that time.

Bets $2 On 4 Hunches For Payoff

Widow Visits Track 1st Time In 20 Years, Wins $81,100

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Marion W. Jones of Washington, D.C., visited a racetrack Monday for the first time in 20 years, bet $2 on four hunches in the Gulfstream Park twin double, and won $81,181.80, second largest payoff in American racing history.

The dark-haired widow said she "didn't even know what a twin double was" until Monday and "wouldn't have come to the races at all except a friend got me away from the swimming pool."

She said her escort gave her $20 to spend "for fun" and she would give him $25,000 of her winnings. "There are lots of things I can do with the rest," she added. One thing she's going to do is extend her Florida vacation through the weekend. She had planned to go home Wednesday.

Vacationing with her daughter, 11, Mrs. Jones said she bet Hy Jeep, $32.80, in the fifth race because "I have a younger brother with the nickname 'Jeep'." She chose Challenge Ship, $13.60, in the sixth because "I entered the real estate business in October and it was a real challenge."

World Boxing Assn. President Appears Before Senate Today

By G. MILTON KELLY Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward Lassman, president of the World Boxing Association, appears before the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee today as the probe of the Clay-Liston championship fight draws to a close.

Lassman's appearance is an opportunity to solve a puzzle: what were his reasons for suggesting the association strip Cassius Clay of the heavyweight title and bar Sonny Liston from another crack at it? And why did he withdraw the suggestion?

The stated reason for the inquiry is to determine if the Clay-Liston fight points to a need to place professional boxing under tight federal policing.

Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says the subcommittee already has heard enough of mysterious money deals and of possible underworld involvement in the staging of the bout so that "we've got the momentum" to pass legislation.

Sam Margolis, acknowledging a highly profitable friendship with Liston and an association with underworld figures Frank Carbo and Frank (Blinky) Palermo, swore Monday the fight "absolutely" was not fixed. He denied heatedly that he was "fronting" for Carbo and Palermo when he secretly obtained without paying a cent, one-half of Liston's stock in Intercontinental Promotions Inc., which had also secretly paid Clay $50,000 for the right to promote his next bout.

Robert Nilon, executive vice president of Intercontinental, whose brother Jack Nilon was Liston's unlisted manager, swore that even he didn't know that Liston had agreed to surrender half his purse for the bout to Jack Nilon, until this was disclosed in the hearings.

He insisted he saw nothing "incongruous" in the fact that no medical consultation was involved when Liston refused to answer the bell for the seventh round of the Feb. 25 fight, thereby losing the title to Clay.

Hart and S. Jerry Cohen, subcommittee counsel, suggested Liston seemed to have a lot of "aides" not publicly listed who were putting the bite heavily on his earnings. They noted that Liston had testified in 1960 that he could not read or write.

The Nilons have testified that the secret promotional deals were violations of World Boxing Association rules. But they said the eagerness of states and cities for the prestige and profits involved in playing host to a championship fight make it unlikely that the association could do much about imposing meaningful sanctions against violators.

Hart said he did not plan to call either Liston or Clay as witnesses because he considers "the record is ample" to guide Congress.

The Los Angeles Angels drew 821,015 fans into their home park in 1963 and 285,824 of them turned out to watch the New York Yankees.

Besselink's 282 Nips Hebert For Azalea Open Championship

By KEN ALTYA
WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — "I should be a great player from now on. I've got every shot there is. I have a good swing now and hit good drives, good iron shots and I'm putting well."

The speaker was Al Besselink, shortly after he slipped home a one-stroke winner of the $20,000 Azalea Open golf tournament Monday. It was the first victory in almost seven years for the 39-year-old husky Merchantville, N.J., blond who returned to the tournament trail after three years as a Philadelphia area club pro.

A triple bogey seven on the next to last hole, where he put his tee shot out of bounds, almost cost him the tournament which he had led since a second-round 65. But a great par four on the final hole saved him the $2,700 top money and nosed out Lionel Hebert.

"This should give me confidence. Winning here could mean $25,000 for me," he added, referring to fringe benefits a circuit victory brings.

Besselink had rounds of 70-65-72-75 to finish six under par for four trips around the 6,744-yard Cape Fear Country Club course. His total matched the tournament high, turned in by three previous winners since the 1949 inaugural.

Playing 18 holes in Monday's weather was punishing. Shortly after dawn a cold wave struck town and temperatures plunged to 37 degrees when play began. The wind howled all day at from 25 to 39 miles an hour.

"When I saw the conditions, I realized that nobody could beat par out there and decided to play for pars, treating each hole individually," Besselink related.

The top money-winners:

Al Besselink, $2,700
Lionel Hebert, $1,800
Tommy Jacobs, $1,500

Billy Casper, $1,250
Larry Mowry, $1,250
Doug Ford, $1,000
Bob Gajda, $1,000
Joe Campbell, $1,000
Dave Thomas, $775

Dayton Now Leads State Pin Tourney

A new team—General Fixture of Dayton—held first place in the state men's bowling tournament today, but otherwise there was little change among leaders after the fifth weekend. The tournament lasts 12 weekends.

General Fixture rolled a 3220 (with handicaps) to displace PRCU Council 35, Team One, of Cleveland in team competition.

Roy Shirk and Jack Roberts of Marion remained in first place in doubles with 1298 and Bob Torrey of Cleveland is still No. 1 in singles with 748. Dan Toroski of Cleveland has overall top honors with an actual score of 1921.

COLUMBUS — A special public hearing to adjust boat dock fees adopted Nov. 1, 1963, has been scheduled for 9:30 a. m., April 20, in Hearing Room 3, Ohio Department Building, 65 S. Front St., Columbus, by the Ohio Division of Parks and Recreation.

It is proposed to amend Rule 1.107, particularly Subsections A, private boat dock; B, private non-boat dock; C, covered dock; E, tie-up space not at canal reservoirs and calendar year fees relating to them. Following are the suggested changes:

For a non-commercial dock or superaqueous structure built and maintained by the applicant and used by him for mooring of watercraft, $12. If more than one boat is moored there shall be an additional fee of $6 for each. The present fee is $18 for each boat.

For a non-commercial dock or other superaqueous structure built and maintained by the applicant and used by him for any purpose exclusive of mooring a boat, $10. Previously the charge was based on the number of lineal feet.

For a non-commercial boat-house or permanently covered dock built and maintained by the applicant for his own use, $18. If more than one boat is moored in or alongside the fee is $6 for each boat. The present fee is $20.

For any tie-up space in the zoned area provided by the division in lieu of dock structures, and where it furnishes stakes or posts for tying boats thereto, $6 for each boat. The present fee is $10 for each boat.

There are no changes in the remaining subsections of the rule.

Swart Supply Takes Lead At Timberlanes

Swart Supply of Wellsburg, W. Va., has bowled its way into first place in the fast-moving Timberlanes five-man handicap tournament.

So elated was the visiting unit, which rolled a 3,139 three-game set, that its group cheered for five minutes after their series was posted on the scoreboard. Top prize for the team finishing first is $1,000.

Although the next four places dropped a notch, three of them are still from Salem.

Mullins Press Room is in second place with a 3,123 series. Purity Dairy follows with 3,109, Sheridan Inn No. 2 of Youngstown has 3,096 and Lucky Strike No. 1, 3,085.

Howard O'Brien led the Swart Supply squad with a 200-163-246-609 series. Bob Cazin came in with 177-223-203-603; Don Schoolmaker, 234-170-184-588; Bud Rowe, 200-171-190-561; and John Hopkins Jr., 171-152-173-496.

O'Brien started his 246 game with a spare. He then made seven straight strikes, picked up a split, and then missed a spare after knocking down nine pins to finish up.

"Soph" Paparodis, director of the journey which ends May 10, pointed out that all 7:30 shifts for the rest of event have been taken.

New Church Softball Loop To Be Discussed

Plans for forming a Church Softball League this summer will be discussed at an organizational meeting of the proposed loop in the Memorial Building Thursday at 7 p. m.

Games will be played under the lights at Kelley Field under official rules of the Amateur Softball Association of America.

The age limit will be 16 years and over, and all players will become members of the Salem Softball Association.

It will be the first year a Church League program has ever been tried. Churches which have already shown an interest in the idea are First Friends, Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian.

Liverpool Junior Cage Entries Due

A word from THERON at the Country Store

One of my customers who is a member of the school board just informed me that they have been notified there will be no dump near Orchard Hill School.

It has been suggested they could locate it in the area of the infamous "little red jewel."

Through the help of the more considerate town people that menace too could be done away with.

2 Who Sold Defaced Pennies Sentenced

LISBON — Two 16-year-old Calcutta and Lisbon area youths who sold defaced pennies were sentenced Monday afternoon by Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin. They were charged with delinquency.

The Calcutta youth admitted selling five Lincoln head 1944 D pennies which had been converted to 1914 D coins.

He was given a week's detention, ordered to pay $9 restitution and make a $25 contribution to the child counseling center. He also was made a ward of the court and placed on probation to his parents until he is 18.

The boy said he got the coins from his brother-in-law, who is now confined to the Ohio State Penitentiary, and denied that he or his companion defaced the pennies.

The Lisbon area youth was ordered to make a $25 contribution to the child counseling center and placed on probation to his parents until he is 18.

Judge Tobin said he would send a report of his hearing to the U. S. Treasury Department.

Authorities said the collectors thought they were buying 1914 D pennies, which are valued up to $125.

Juvenile Court Officer James Miller of Salineville cited the boys.

The Penney Co. has just issued its first spring and summer catalog, a 1,000-page volume. It is being distributed primarily in the Midwest area serviced by the company's Milwaukee distribution center.

Approaches on Brooklyn side of Verrazano-Narrows Bridge cut wide swathe through Fort Hamilton area. Towers soar 690 feet, higher than most Manhattan skyscrapers; underwater foundations are sunk as deep as 170 feet. Bridge will have two six-lane levels, but only one will be used at first. Eventually the bridge is expected to handle 48 million cars a year.

Final construction phase begins with the raising of the keystone section of the suspended roadway into place 228 feet above the water. Other units, positioned by barges, will follow. They will be bolted together at first, eventually welded. Pouring of concrete roadbed will take three months.

The Greatest Bridge That Was Ever Built

When the soaring Verrazano-Narrows Bridge opens for traffic late in 1964, it will stand as one of man's greatest engineering triumphs.

By any measurement, it is the biggest bridge in the world. Length of the main span from tower to tower is 4,620 feet, 60 feet longer than San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, 460 feet longer than the Mackinac Bridge and nearly three times as long as the Brooklyn Bridge, the granddaddy of suspension bridges.

The $325 million structure is named for Giovanni da Verrazano, an Italian explorer who discovered New York harbor in 1494. The bridge marks the realization of a long dream — uniting Staten Island with the rest of New York.

Next stage, after towers, is stringing 145,000 miles of steel wire—which took three years to make—for the four great suspension cables. "Spinning wheel," top photo, passes 1/5-inch-diameter wire from one anchorage, across saddles in towers, to other anchorage. Wires are bound in 61 subgroups. Total wires: 26,108; weight: 38,000 tons. Wires are then compacted, bottom, into one cable three feet thick, which is itself wrapped in protective wire. From four such cables, 51,000 tons of roadway structure will be suspended.

Map shows relation of Verrazano-Narrows Bridge to Greater New York area. It will provide a direct, fast route, by-passing Manhattan, between New Jersey and Long Island and be the first vehicular link between the Borough of Richmond (Staten Island) and her four sister N. Y. boroughs.

Failed To File Returns 4 Years

Cleveland Police Prosecutor Quits After Tax Disclosure

CLEVELAND (AP)—Richard F. Matia has resigned as Cleveland's chief police prosecutor following disclosure that he failed to file federal income tax returns from 1959 through 1962. Mayor Ralph S. Locher swore in Edward V. Cain to succeed Matia after the latter's resignation Monday. Cain, 59, has been an assistant prosecutor since 1946.

Locher said he had talked to Matia by telephone Monday before he received Matia's written resignation. Asked whether he had asked

Matia to resign, the mayor said, "We both spoke of it."

Locher said Matia had "administered the office well, but he made a serious mistake. He admitted he had made it."

Matia said after his troubles were disclosed in newspapers last Friday that he was overwhelmed with work when he took over the office of chief police prosecutor and that he "forgot to file a return on my 1959 income."

Matia said he panicked when he realized he had forgotten to file and did not file for the next three years.

The law requires that tax returns be filed annually and provides possible penalties of imprisonment and fine for violators.

Matia, 39, filed returns for the four years late Thursday, a short time after two reporters interviewed him and he learned the story of his failing to file was going to be printed. He was appointed chief police prosecutor in 1959 by then Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze.

Matia's attorney, Michal E. Cozza, said his client had paid his taxes through withholdings and didn't owe the government any money.

The Internal Revenue Service has refused to comment on Matia's case.

PLUCKS 8 FROM SEA

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (AP)—U.S. Air Force Capt. Jack Firse, 26, of Cleveland, Ohio, piloted a helicopter Monday that rescued five men and three small boys who had been adrift 66 hours.

The rescue team winched eight survivors of a mostly Australian fishing party in which two were believed drowned, up from the remains of their overturned, broken native canoe.

Faisal Proclaimed Regent

Saudi Arabia's King Stripped Of All Powers by Brother

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Ailing King Saud of Saudi Arabia has been stripped of all powers, and his brother, Crown Prince Faisal, proclaimed regent and uncontested ruler of the oil-rich desert kingdom. Mecca radio announced Monday night.

Faisal took over after a power struggle that threatened to plunge Saudi Arabia into civil war.

Faisal, Saudi Arabia's 58-year-old premier, issued a royal decree delegating Saud's organizational, political, administrative, judicial and executive powers and prerogatives to himself. The change left Saud, the 61-year-old monarch who has ruled the country since his father King Ibn Saud died in November 1953, with the title of king and little else. Faisal's decree reduced him to a figurehead.

Saud, who has made several trips to Europe in recent years for treatment, is expected to leave the country soon for "reasons of health."

Faisal named himself regent after 12 Moslem religious leaders adopted a resolution declaring Saud "unfit to conduct the affairs of state."

Approved by 58 Saudi princes, the resolution said all Saud's powers and prerogatives should go to Faisal "in light of the dispute between His Majesty the King and His Highness Prince Faisal which was about to lead the country into insurrection and anarchy" and because of the king's "physical condition and his current circumstances."

Faisal, who has been crown prince since his elder brother took the throne, took all powers to run Saudi Arabia's internal and foreign affairs without consulting Saud. He is to remain regent even if the king is in the country.

McCroom is the first Negro attorney to work in the federal office for 50 years. He formerly worked as an attorney for the Ohio Civil Liberties Commission.
